

Frosty Products, a pioneer in the frozen yogurt and dessert industry, got its start in 1976 at Alfred's Restaurant, located at Somerset Mall in Troy, MI. Alfred's was the first to offer soft-serve frozen yogurt in Michigan, which they called "Frosty Yogurt." Later that year, as the popularity grew, so did the company. The brand was changed to "Frostyogurt", and the newly opened store at the Oakland Mall was the first to be branded with the new Frostyogurt name. By the end of that year, the model was expanded and named "Harry's", using Frostyogurt and the newly added "Classic Custard" as its featured products. During the 1980's, Frosty Products expanded to be featured in many Midwestern locations, including major department stores, restaurants, ice cream stores, frozen yogurt and custard shops, and theme parks. Today, Frosty Products continues to grow its product line and create unique and modern sweet offerings to add a new and delicious twist to its beloved classic desserts.
